Thompson & Hitchcock, agents of Gregory's Express, corner of Wall and Pearl streets, New York, are authorized to receive advertisements and subscriptions for the Pacific News.

Extra copies of the Pacific News for the past two or three days, can be had at our counter, in wrappers, by those who wish to send to the States.

Our old advertising and business friends will find us ready to wait upon them at our new quarters in Montgomery street, where we shall be happy to see their faces occasionally. We trust that a forced absence from the field for two weeks has not sufficed to extinguish all remembrance of the Pacific News: and if so, we can assure them that we are on hand nearly as good as new. Subscribers who have changed their places of residence, as well as others who wish to have the News left at their doors, will please hand in their names and address.

A WORD IN SEASON.
What are leading Democrats doing to secure a triumphant result on Monday next? If what is true that we see and hear, there are those who are exhibiting an apathy that is worse than open opposition. Men whom we could name, were it necessary, whom the Democratic party have loaded with honors, not only refuse to give the least particle of attention to the contest, but refuse to contribute to the absolutely necessary expenses attendant upon the canvass. While a single individual on the Whig ticket is said to have expended one thousand dollars to secure a nomination, leading Democrats have not contributed as many cents to aid the party organization to which they profess to be attached. Do those gentlemen think, because they are secure, that their party allegiance is dissolved, and the Democratic party have no further claims upon them? We have no patience with this kind of skin-deep Democracy; and we hesitate not to say, that if we are defeated by the supineness of those who ought to be our active and working friends, the blame will have to be laid where it belongs. We hope, for the few brief hours that intervene before the election, that every man will arouse himself, and with one accord give "a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether." Let this be done and victory is certain.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.—Every Democrat who votes on Monday, should take especial care to see that the name of Alexander Wells is upon his ticket. A strong effort will be made to defeat this gentleman by putting the name of his opponent upon every mongrel ticket that chance throws into the field. A long acquaintance with Mr. W. enables us to say, that he is an active Democrat, and will make a capable and faithful officer. Last spring, when running for the same office, he was defeated only by a few votes. Let every Democrat do his duty now, and his election is sure. His fidelity and ability certainly deserves success, and a "strong pull" will secure it.

"YOUNG IRELAND'S TICKET."—One of the speakers at the whig meeting Thursday evening, attempted to be facetious in his sneers at the democratic ticket, because of the fact that some of our Irish adopted fellow citizens took part in its formation. After this exhibition of his real feeling, the speaker then attempted to cajole the foreigners present by saying they were amongst his warmest friends at home. This is whiggery all over. Sneer at the Irish, abuse the Germans, and damn the "unwashed" of their own country until election time, and then they can bow to the hod carrier, shake hands with a boatman, and raise their beavers to the mechanic.

The funniest occurred thus far in the contest, appeared in the Courier on Wednesday morning, in the shape of a communication signed a "True Blue Whig," containing some severe strictures upon several of the whig candidates, for running upon both the whig and independent tickets. This article was written, it appears, by a prominent democrat, and the sharp-eyed whig editor never perceived what was so apparent to every body else, that the communication was aimed at the whigs, and evidently written by an opponent of their party. It seems that at a meeting of a half dozen whigs it was agreed in a spirit of fun to make use of the enemy's columns, if possible, and the article in question was written accordingly. Our friend Crane was beautifully sold.

OUR CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.—We did not intend, in our remarks yesterday, to cast a doubt upon the orthodoxy of Hon. Mr. Broderick; for we have known him too long, both here and in New York, not to be satisfied that a more devoted working democrat does not live, or one more worthy the united suffrages of his party and the people of San Francisco whom he so truly and ably represented in the last legislature, than this gentleman.

In the formation of independent tickets he has, personally, had nothing to do; but as his great popularity gives strength to any ticket upon which his name is placed, it was added to that of which Capt. Stimpson and Gen. Morse—both highly esteemed citizens—were the heart and soul. Their only chance of success was undoubtedly felt to consist in the strength of the regular democratic nomination, for the whigs will to a man vote the straight ticket; therefore the innumerable combinations which have been formed by stump candidates to "ride" themselves into office.

We urge upon each democrat to come out on Monday and vote; and not only himself, but see that the lukewarm and the hesitating are brought to the polls. Every additional vote for our ticket makes assurance more sure, and amid so much trickery as is brought to bear for the defeat of the democratic nominees, it behooves that we shall all be there, on Monday. Let us rally, then, and in securing the return of our able and popular candidate for Senator, Mr. Broderick, achieve also a triumph for the whole ticket.

THE "INDEPENDENT."—Judge Shattuck "spoke right out in meeting," at the Whig gathering on Thursday night, about the independent ticket. The Whigs generally pretend to be very indignant about some of their candidates permitting their names to remain in so suspicious a position, but the Judge expressed his gratification that the ticket was in the field, and hoped it "would receive a large number of democratic votes." If it did, he thought his chance of an election pretty fair; if not, of course the contrary will be the result.

The truth is, the Whigs depend upon the independent movement to throw the election into their hands, by defeating the regular democratic nominees. They may succeed, but we trust not. If they do, political infamy will henceforth attach to the democrats engaged in this mongrel arrangement, which has not even the shadow of an excuse for its origin or advancement. And even though they should be defeated in their designs, we should like to see the party convention, or committee, or any one else, who will place confidence in their political integrity in the future.

THE MEETING TO-NIGHT ON CENTRAL WHARF.—We are informed that Col. Weller, Alexander Wells, Esq., Henry H. Byrne, Esq., and other distinguished and popular speakers, will address the meeting to-night. It will doubtless be one of the largest meetings ever held in San Francisco. A full band of music will be in attendance. The true spirit is abroad.

THE ELECTION PRECINCTS.—By a notice in another column, it will be seen that the Court of Sessions has divided the city into four election districts, and also naming the places of holding the poll in each precinct. Electors will do well to cut out the notice for future reference.

STATEMENT OF C. L. ROSS, Esq.—Our readers are particularly referred to this document in to-day's paper, though having had no time for its perusal ourselves, we are unable to speak of its contents. It is due that he should be heard in defence of the serious charges preferred against him.

GRAND DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

An immense gathering of the Democracy, "hard fists" of Happy Valley, was held at the foot of Mission street last evening. Bonfires burned as brilliantly in the street as the Republican fires of old. The most entire unanimity and good feeling prevailed, and everything passed off pleasantly. The meeting was organized by the appointment of J. P. Hall, Esq., President, and was addressed by Mr. A. Smith, Mr. Baker, W. K. Kinder, Esq., F. K. Tracy, Esq., Alexander Wells, Esq., and Mr. Gibson. The addresses were eloquent and satisfactory, and were listened to with pleasure, and received with the loudest applause. "The whole ticket, and nothing but the ticket," was the prevalent feeling.

The following resolutions were presented and adopted unanimously, when meeting adjourned with nine cheers for the whole democratic ticket.

Whereas, the Democracy of San Francisco, in accordance with the established usages of the party, have placed before them a ticket composed of men well qualified to discharge the duties which will devolve upon them as the servants of the people:

And whereas, we esteem the triumph of Democratic principles in this City and State, at this peculiar period in the history of California, to be paramount to the triumph of men, "outsiders," who seek to obtain office at the sacrifice of the cherished principles we profess:

And whereas, we hold it to be the bounden duty of all men who profess Democratic principles, to vote for the regular nominees of the party:

Be it therefore Resolved, That we hereby pledge ourselves individually and collectively to give our undivided and cordial support to the regular democratic ticket.

Resolved, That "Principles, not Men" shall be our watchword, and that under the broad banner of Democracy, we will roll up such a democratic majority at the ensuing election as will crush "whiggery" in this city for all time to come.

Resolved, That, entertaining the principles promulgated by the Democratic Conventions held at Baltimore in 1841 and 1848, we conceive that, although we are separated from our fatherland, we are still under the same glorious American flag which under the administration of the lamented Col. Polk was bound to this far off Pacific shore—and despite the machinations of whigs and their adjuncts, the "area of freedom" was extended by that administration so as to secure to America forever the key to the commerce of Asia and the golden treasures of California: and that it is our bounden duty to use our most untiring exertions to secure beyond a doubt the success of those who are true in that faith.

Resolved, That we urge upon the honest and ever true democracy of this city, the propriety of voting the whole and entire ticket, regularly nominated; that we hereby resolve that there shall be no scratching of tickets, but that on the day of election we will stand shoulder to shoulder, resolved on victory.

Resolved, That our ticket is a good and unexceptionable one, and that we can and will elect it.

THE WHIG CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.—The "retrenchment and reform candidate," Mr. Bartol, is trimming his sails for every favorable breeze that he fancies may blow towards San Jose. In the first place he opposed the salary bill, in the Board of Assistants, and talked a good deal about it; but on Monday evening last, he voluntarily proposed to give the Mayor a salary of $10,000 per year! We do not speak of this to disapprove of the sum named, but merely to show the consistency of the whig candidate for Senator in his anxiety to spend the winter "out of town." When the election is disposed of, and he shall be permitted to preside over the Board of Assistants in peace, and legislate for the city rather than the state, we shall expect him to go in strong for the entire salary, without making any invidious distinctions.

MAIL FROM THE STATES.—The steamers Carolina, of the Aspinwall Line, and Columbus, of Law's Line, are both due to-day, with two weeks later dates from the Atlantic side. Their regular day of sailing from Panama was 15th Sept., and this is therefore the twentieth day out. Important news of the action of Congress on the California question may be looked for, although, for our part, we are far from sanguine as to the passage of the admission bill.

TICKETS.—Our small cap press, saved from the fire, is just the article upon which to print election tickets. Candidates will bear this in mind, and send in their orders.

THE OVERLAND IMMIGRANTS.

As there seems no probability of Col. Collier, the Collector of this Port, advancing any money for the relief of the suffering immigration now on their journey to this State, I would suggest that the Relief Committee of San Francisco call upon the Commodore of this station, and request him to order the storeship Supply, now at Benicia, to proceed at once to Sacramento with the provisions and clothing now on board of her, and tender them to the Relief Committee of Sacramento, for the benefit of the suffering immigrants, understanding that the above provisions and clothing on board of said ship are soon to be brought to this city for sale as a surplus on hand. I believe our government at Washington would sanction any act of this kind, from any commander on the Pacific station for such a laudable purpose. This is merely a suggestion, and as I know the articles mentioned are on board of said ship, I am led to pen these few lines. You can shape this to suit your own views, if you should conclude to make it public, for the poorer some thing is done for the suffering thousands, the better we shall feel when we lay our heads upon our pillows at night.

ADVERTISING.—Every day is showing more and more the benefits of advertising. In no place is this so necessary, or half so effective, as in San Francisco. Our population changes often, and all depend on the Daily News which they read to keep them properly informed of what is in the market. Hence the necessity, hence the advantage, of advertising.

AUTUMN WEATHER.—Yesterday was one of those long, bright, golden days, such as belong to the fall of the year. The fierce heats and chill winds of summer here, are past, and for a brief period we now enjoy in common with all in north latitude, the delightful season of the harvest moon! What feelings does this call up in the breasts of many a pilgrim in California!

Editor of Pacific News:

Why is it that a certain important case pending in the Superior Court, is continued from Saturday to Saturday, and a final decision withheld by the Court. It looks very much as though it was the object of the Court to avoid a decision until after the coming election, thereby giving color to the inference that a political reason induces the delay.

MORE CITY SCRIP.—The Finance Committee of the Common Council, on Thursday evening, proposed the issue of $100,000, in city scrip, with interest at 3 per cent. a month, payable one hundred and fifty days from date, or out of the first money received by the commissioners of the sinking fund. The ordinance was adopted.

We welcome the return of our old friends Hart & Co., auctioneers, to the columns of the News. We have few more deserving or enterprising business men among us than those composing this firm, and it is gratifying to know that they possess in an eminent degree the public confidence.

APPLES.—We saw yesterday morning at long wharf, a boat load of the fairest manzanillas which we remember to have seen since we visited daddy's orchard in the States. They were all the way from the mission of San Juan, near Monterey.

CUT HIS THROAT.—A German named Kaessler cut his throat yesterday morning, severing the windpipe. He also had a stab in the left breast, near the heart. He was taken to the city hospital, where he was properly cared for, and hopes are entertained of his recovery.

COMMISSIONERS OF THE SINKING FUND.—At a meeting of the Common Council, on Thursday evening, Mayor Geary nominated Messrs. Talbot H. Green, Wm. Hooper, and Jas. King of William as Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. The nominations were approved by the Board.

GOLD DUST.—Adams & Co. send by the steamer to-day, about $100,000 in gold dust; Gregory about $30,000. In addition, the transportation line takes a considerable amount.

The Masonic fraternity yesterday turned out in large numbers to attend the funeral of a deceased brother, Sam'l C. Davis, of Davy Crockett Lodge.

PASSENGERS.—The New Orleans, which sails this afternoon, takes about 200 passengers. We have neither room for, nor type to give the names.

GORDON AGAINST ROSS.

An article appeared in the Journal of Commerce of Tuesday, and published at the request of H. G. Gordon above named, in several other papers, headed "salutary caution," purporting to be a report of the trial of this case, but which is a misrepresentation, and calculated to mislead the public; and in permitting it to be published in your columns you have opened to Gordon a channel through which he has communicated to the public the spleen and malice he feels after an unsuccessful effort to extort fees from both parties to a business transaction, when he has been employed by only one party.

The article emanates from a source which entitles it to no great respect, yet as I have been unjustly assailed, I feel it due to myself and the public it should not pass unnoticed.

The suit was brought by Gordon against me for $500, for alleged services as an attorney, &c., in some business transactions between Kelly, Galloway and myself. I denied, and still deny, that I ever employed him to act for me in any capacity whatever.

On the trial both Kelly and Galloway testified that their business with me had all been arranged, and that Gordon was employed as their counsel in the matter and not as mine. The latter also stated that he had paid him his bill of $250, and took his receipt. The receipt was produced by which Gordon acknowledged payment from Kelly of $250, the identical services he was seeking to recover again from me. It was also shown that I had promised Galloway when applied to by him, to pay his lawyer's bill, and this I have never refused and did not dispute on the trial. My liability to Gordon was the question, and not the matters reported in the article referred to.

In regard to the matters between Kelly, Galloway and myself I have this to state. They voluntarily loaned me about $5000 each about a year ago, and took my notes on interest for it without security. An unexpected loss of about $20,000 by the foundering of the ship Tonquin in Dec. or Jan. following somewhat embarrassed me, and these notes were not paid; and at the request of the parties I gave them the best mortgage security I could, which I thought was amply sufficient to secure them. The whole matter was finally and, as I believe, amicably, arranged between us, and although some of the papers bear date this year, they are for the principal or interest of the loan first mentioned. In connection with this matter I refer to the annexed statement of Messrs. Grogan and Lent, who were connected with me, when the loan was made.

And here I might conclude with a little salutary caution to clients, that in addition to being careful what lawyer they employ, they also take care that Gordon is not on the other side, lest they have to pay their own counsel and their adversaries too, or have their private affairs perverted and dragged before the public. But as it seems Mr. Gordon desires a little notoriety, I hereby inform the public that this is the same Gordon who last winter was publicly chastised by an officer of the U. S. Navy for his insolence and insulting remarks against our flag, courts, and various things American, for which, (after failing to obtain the shield of some innocent person to stand between him and danger) he sought for reparation for the damage done to his fair countenance by suit at law, and received at the hands of a jury the consoling verdict of $10.

Now, as then, he prefers to skulk behind innocent or irresponsible persons. Instead of openly endorsing that which under the cloak of Mr. Kaessler he would charge, he prefers to imitate in manner and matter the animal that discharges its vile secretions, sometimes to the annoyance of whole neighborhoods, and then sneaks behind the nearest contiguous bush for cover.

Not satisfied with the publication of his article in the Journal of Commerce, Gordon in person solicits and procures its insertion in other papers. And with what motive? Was it for the benefit of the public, because they were interested? No. Was it by the desire or request of Kelly or Galloway? No. Was it because he, Gordon, had been aggrieved by the alleged deception? No. Was it to gratify a mean, contemptible, cowardly spirit? Oh no!—but as a salutary caution to the community at large! Magnanimous Mr. Gordon! willing to spend his time, his labor and money, unasked, to give benighted Californians a little salutary caution from his superior wisdom and perception. May they appreciate your noble disinterestedness in such a manner as will lead you to study and practice the precept of that noble line

"Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

I have lived in San Francisco from the period when but a few persons were scattered along the almost desolate shore where now stands our city, and long before Mr. Gordon touched his foot upon American soil. In the miscellaneous and extensive business I have transacted with my fellow-citizens, I leave it to them to say whether I am amenable to the charge, or deserve the unhandsome remarks with which I have been assailed.

My assailant, Gordon, came among us an alien adventurer, with the liberality which characterizes our nation he has been received with kindness and universal indulgence; but, by favor and I am informed contrary to the spirit of all law, had extended to him the privilege of practicing the profession of the law here when he owes allegiance to and can claim protection as the subject of a foreign power. From such a source, and under such circumstances, for the first time I believe in my life, I am charged with perpetrating a premeditated act of dishonesty, in a matter too in which my assailant has no interest. I submit, therefore, whether the attack is not unwarrantable and unjustified.

Many foreigners live among us esteemed and respected, who equally with citizens have shared in the advantages which discoveries here have yielded, and by attending to their own business, and not other people's, have pursued their various avocations with honor and profit to themselves and our town, and now rank among our most worthy inhabitants. From their example, too, Mr. Gordon may receive a "salutary caution."

And here I leave Mr. Gordon to enjoy the fruit of his labor, with its fame and its infamy; with the hope and recommendation that his various suits and newspaper paragraphs will prove a "salutary caution," and that the cultivation of a little modesty would vastly become him.

C. L. ROSS.
San Francisco, Oct. 4, 1850.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4, 1850.

MR. C. L. ROSS,
Sir—In reply to your note of this morning, we can only state, that in the month of Sept. or Oct., 1849, Messrs. Kelley and Galloway, loaned some money to you, taking your draft for the amount. A few weeks afterwards these gentlemen increased the amount loaned, and asked you to give them a mortgage upon some real estate owned by you, which document was drawn up in the usual form, in the counting house of Messrs. Ross, Benton & Co., and at the time was considered ample security for the amount loaned you. We have every reason to believe that the transaction was conducted in good faith and without the slightest intention on your part to defraud the lenders of any portion of the consideration given by them.

We remain, yours very respectfully,
(Signed) ALEX. B. GROGAN.
WM. M. LENT.

CITY HOSPITAL.—We learn from a tabular report, furnished us last evening, that the deaths in Dr. Smith's Hospital, for the week ending 4th inst., were four. Their names are as follows: Sept. 29th, Wm. Sealey, of New York, aged 25; same day, Michael Degin, of Philadelphia, aged 23; Sept. 30th, Peter Tend, of Mass., aged 34; Oct. 4th, Charles Wray, of England, aged 6—all of dysentery. We notice, specially, in this report, that these patients were only sent to the Hospital in the last stages of disease, the above having been sick from three to eight months, before admission, and in hospital from seven to thirty-five days. How can the Hospital be made responsible for a high ratio of mortality under such circumstances? The wonder is that so many are saved who are thus sent in at the last hour. We shall have something to say on these matters on a future occasion.

FORM OF BALLOTS.—The Inspectors of Election give notice in another column of the form to be observed in the ballots for Monday's election.

THE SALARY BILL.—The Mayor has officially approved of the salary bill. The Adjournment must now go to work and log-roll through their salaries, by themselves.

THE NEW ORLEANS.—This steamer sails for Panama to-day. She will take a mail.

THE MUSEUM.—This little pleasure box is nightly filled with an admiring crowd.

CAPT. WM. WEBSTER.

In order to correct a misapprehension that seems to exist in the minds of many persons in regard to the citizenship of Capt. Webster, growing out of his former residence in the British colonies the following correspondence is laid before the public. Of the competency of Capt. Webster to fill the office of Harbor Master, for which he is a candidate, all who know him are well satisfied. It will be seen that Capt. W. proved himself a true-hearted American, by refusing to forswear his allegiance, though by so doing he would have secured possession to over $100,000 worth of property which he had acquired in New Zealand, but which was wrested from him by the British colonial authorities:

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Auckland, 7th Aug. 1841.

Sir—I have had the honor to receive and lay before His Excellency the Governor, your letter of the 29th ult., transmitting copies of titles of claims to land in New Zealand, and am instructed to acquaint you, that you must distinctly state, whether you claim the land as a British or American subject; if the former, your claim will take the course the law prescribes; if the latter your claims must depend upon the decision which may be arrived at by the joint consent of both Governments. The Governor further directs me to inform you that in seeking assistance from a foreign Government, you must relinquish all the rights of a British subject, such as the ownership of a British vessel, which you are now understood to possess; but if the claims be lodged as a British subject, His Excellency will consent to their being laid before the commissioners in the usual way.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedt servt,

WILLARD G. HURTING.

Mr. Wm. Webster, Comandant Harbor.

COROMANDEL HARBOR,
Aug. 10, 1841.

Sir—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of the 7th, and beg to say, that after the conversation I had with His Excellency a few days ago, I feel much surprised at the contents of this letter. I wish you to understand that the copies of deeds that I sent was for examination only to prevent mistakes, &c., and further to acquaint the Governor that if he would give me his situation and make me a present of the whole Islands of New Zealand I would not take the oath of allegiance to Great Britain. Trusting that I have not made any unjust remarks, I beg to remain your most obedt servt,

65 2t [A copy.]

To the Electors of the city and county of San Francisco: The undersigned, Inspectors, appointed by the County Judge, to superintend the election, to be held on the 7th of October next, would make the following suggestions:

The ballots for the different officers, to be elected, both State, District, County and City, will be received in one box, and the names of the candidates for such offices should therefore be on one ticket, but no vote can be given for Judge of the Superior Court, or Harbor Master, by any person residing without the limits of the city of San Francisco. According to the provisions of the statute, the ballots for State capital must be on a separate ticket, deposited in a separate box, and be endorsed upon the outside, "State Capital."

The Inspectors would also suggest that article II Sec. I of the Constitution provides that no person can be a qualified elector, unless he shall have resided in the State six months next preceding the election, and in the county or district in which he claims his vote thirty days.

P. W. Shepherd, Inspector 1st precinct.

EBELL.

The New Tribune has a letter dated Alexandria Bay, (on the St. Lawrence) July 10, from a summer tourist, who recently made an excursion to the Thousand Islands, where he met the notorious Bill Johnston, and his daughter Kate, the heroine of the Isles. The following sketch, giving an outline of the history of Johnston, and some account of Kate, is interesting:

Since my arrival on the frontier, I have thought it a serious mistake that you failed to make your intended excursion to the Thousand Islands during your northern tour. I selected, as the place of rendezvous, Clayton, formerly French Creek, thirty miles from Watertown, a quiet, pleasant village, built on a pavement of primitive strata, which outcrops along the bank of the river. Bill Johnston, the hero of the Canadian rebellion, resides here. As all sorts of extravagant stories are afloat concerning his marvellous career, an outline of his history may interest many of your readers. He is a native of Canada, and now nearly seventy, with an athletic and commanding form, and is still the corsair of the fifteen hundred islands that crowd the St. Lawrence within a small section of its ample current. The first adventure which made him known in England and the United States, was his daring robbery of the enemy's mail during the last war, for which he received a reward of $500. From that time he became a hunted outlaw to the English, and reciprocated most cordially their enmity. In May, 1836, he boarded the Sir Robert Peel, a British steamer, with thirteen men, expecting a promised reinforcement. The failure scattered his band, and he fled to the wilderness of islands, where, for several months, he eluded the search of his enemies. If he heard the puff of a steamboat in pursuit, starting from his ambush, he dropped his canoe upon the opposite side of the island, and was shortly looking out from a distant eyry on the fruitless chase—flying from every attempt to arrest him, like an invisible yet dreaded genius of the romantic solitude.

Kate, his second daughter, often sought his lair in a light skiff, to carry food and cheer the fugitive in his exile. Never was a man in more painful suspense. Both governments offered a large bounty for his apprehension, for breaking neutrality laws, and the loss of the vessel, which he affirms the crew set on fire. The following autumn he delivered himself up to the civil authorities of this State, and was lodged in the jail at Albany—was bailed out in the spring, and returned to his favorite haunt. When the time of trial came, Van Rensselaer, in prison with him, was pardoned by the payment of a fine, and his case postponed. Johnston, who said he liked the jail, but was tired of confinement, at eight o'clock the same evening made his escape and walked forty miles before daylight, when, overcome with weariness, he took to the canal. Kate, who passed most of the period he was in jail, with her father, had left two weeks previous, but joined him in Rome; and the Captain was soon darting once more along the shadowy channels of this magnificent river. He has the standard of colors taken from the Robert Peel, in safe keeping. Kate is married, and lives snugly near the paternal domicile. She has been in good society, praised and lionized, till we surmise that her seclusion, naturally enough, is not entirely agreeable. Her mind is clear and active, her character independent, and her manners pleasing. Her life of adventure and excitement has not been favorable to the culture of the moral feelings, though the religious element may now appear in retirement.

A MODEL EDITOR.—A Paris letter says: M. Armand Bertin, publisher and editor of the Journal des Debats, has just started for the springs of Spa. It is the first holiday he has had for twenty-five years, during which time it has been his custom not only to write for his paper, but to read all the proofs from beginning to end, commencing after midnight and ending about two o'clock in the morning. The Journal is one of the most correctly printed papers in Paris.

There are boys who think themselves men, and who go to the barbers' shops to be, as they say, 'barred.' We have heard of a juvenile who went to be scraped, and the barber having adjusted the cloth, and soaped his smooth skin, left him, and went lounging about his door. As soon as the young 'gent' saw him sauntering, he impatiently called out, 'Well, what are you leaving me here all this time for?' 'In waiting until your beard grows,' replied the witty angor Whig gives the following account of a deer hunt which came off some time since in that city:

Yesterday afternoon a deer came into the city, and in the chase rushed into Main street among the large and fashionable stores, causing quite a sensation among the bucks there. It came down Court street and over the fences of the gardens on Hammond street, and made a leap and dash at the back window of Mulla's crockery store, into and through the store, then across the street, and dashed into the large and brilliant window of Messrs. Hemenway & Hersey, each pane of which cost 75 dollars, and smashing a large astral lamp, and trotting across the glass show case. When headed off, it leaped through a side light of small dimensions, and made his escape across the street, jumping over a large load of lumber, into the dry goods store of T. G. Stickney, leaping through the window and under a railing, and on taking a hurried survey was attracted by the large mirror in the rear end of the store, and rushed against it, smashing it into atoms.

This shock caused it to sally back, but it immediately recovered and trotted along the glass showcase, and when headed, it glibly dodged and escaped from the same place at which it had entered. In the chase it pushed ahead into West Market place, and into the store of J. A. Whitmore, where it made itself very busy among the barrels and boxes, until in its fright it dashed against the back window, carrying the whole sash and striking upon the wharf below. But not yet overcome, it rallied and made its way along the wharf to the store room of Messrs. Fiske & Dale, in the window of which it was caught and slaughtered. We learn that Mr. Stickney's mirror cost over one hundred dollars, and that the destruction caused by this deer's visit to the city, and the exciting chase, was not less than 400 dollars.

Adversities are blessings in disguise. We know a man who had lived six months on a sprained ankle. He belongs to half a dozen societies and draws four dollars a week from each. He once spent a whole month at Saratoga on a sore throat.

On Sunday, a lady called to her little boy who was tossing marbles on the sidewalk, to come into the house. 'Don't you know you shouldn't be out there, my son? Go into the back yard if you want to play marbles; it is Sunday.' 'Well, yes; but ain't it Sunday in the back yard, mother?'

HARBOR MASTER OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Editor of Pacific News:

We very frequently see men candidates for an office the duties of which they are utterly incapable of performing; and when they succeed, the embarrassments resulting from their position are self-evident to the most casual observer.

Offices are created for the benefit and convenience of the community at large, and when by illjudged partiality or prejudice, inefficient persons are placed in them, the elective franchise is not only abused but the public interest suffers. Hence the great necessity of the people making a close and strict inquiry not only into the moral and intellectual worth, but the practical knowledge and fitness of the candidate to discharge ably and faithfully the duties of the office to which he aspires.

The commercial interest above all other predominates in San Francisco and all its inhabitants, either directly or indirectly, are interested in it, and the trade growing out of it. There is an office in the gift of the people intimately connected with this great and vital interest,—that of Harbor Master. It is all important, then, that the free voters of our city, discarding from their minds every thing like party prejudice or sectional feeling, to choose a man every way worthy and well qualified to discharge its duties.

I have not the pleasure of an acquaintance with any of the candidates for Harbor Master, except one, and him I have most favorably known for years past in the states. He is a man who, from the age of sixteen, has been employed in our merchant service and that of our commanded vessels out of our most important ports, and through his humane exertions, while captain in the revenue service of Texas, many a German family was saved from a watery grave, the vessels on which they came being wrecked on its coast. He acted as pilot for Commodore Conner in landing his boats at the mouth of the Rio Grande. He carried the news of the victory of Buena Vista to Gen. Scott, for which service he received that officer's thanks. He was appointed by the United States Quarter Master, Harbor Master of Vera Cruz, and was frequently exposed to the enemy's fire while landing provisions for our troops. He ceased not from his arduous duties, though numbers were dying daily of the yellow fever which then raged in the city. His zeal, his skill, and his services during the bombardment of Vera Cruz gained him not only the confidence of the army generally, but that of Com. Perry and the officers of his fleet. In fact from the time that Gen. Taylor moved his army from Corpus Christi until the termination of the war, this patriotic man spent only three months with his family. Such is a brief outline of the services that one of our candidates for Harbor Master has rendered to his country.

Democrat as I am, and ever have been, I cannot for the life of me see what politics has to do with the office of Harbor Master; for in the name of common sense what application can either whig or democratic principles have to the mooring of a vessel in a berth so she will swing clear of others. This certainly is pushing things to an extreme; and extremes being known as dangerous, should ever be avoided. You are thus called upon, fellow citizens, in the name of party, to act against your better judgment, your sense of justice, nay even your own interest. Will you obey the call? I hope not, for every independent feeling of a freeman forbids it!

A few words as regards the individual character of this candidate alluded to. As a man I know him to be kind, generous, and humane; and while he sympathizes with the afflicted, his hand is ever ready to relieve the distressed. Those who know him best like him most. "Is he able," is he honest?" He is both. This fellow citizen of San Francisco, is a mere glance at the services and worth of a man who respectfully solicits your support on Monday next for the office of Harbor Master; this is Capt. George Simpton.

AN OLD DEMOCRAT.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE of California, District of the County of Santa Clara: Jose De Arnez vs. Genoveva Garcia Mangel, Emanuel Mangel and Lorenzo Geoffrey. Petition to foreclose mortgage, &c.:

Whereas, JOSE DE ARNAZ filed in this Court on the 16th day of May, 1850, his petition, showing, among other things, that on the 20th day of December, 1849, Genoveva Garcia Mangel, the wife of Emanuel Mangel, was the owner in fee of a certain house and lot in San Jose, adjoining and in the rear of the house lately occupied by Messrs. Larrain, Benitez & Co., and fronting on Garcia street, did on that day mortgage the same, with the consent of Emanuel Mangel, her husband, to said Arnez, to secure the sum of five hundred and sixty dollars, payable four months from date: That afterwards, on or about the 15th day of January, 1850, said Emanuel Mangel and Genoveva G. Mangel executed a mortgage on the same premises to one Geoffrey, of San Francisco, for about fourteen hundred dollars; which said mortgage was falsely dated the 19th of December, 1849, with intent to defeat the prior mortgage lien on said real estate, and to cheat and defraud said petitioner out of his debt. Said petitioner prays discovery and full answer to the above facts, that said mortgage to Geoffrey be set aside as fraudulent, and that said premises be sold to pay petitioner's mortgage, and for general relief.

And it being proved by affidavit to the satisfaction of this Court that Emanuel Mangel is a non-resident of this State, notice is hereby given to Emanuel Mangel to be and appear before the Honorable Court of the Third Judicial District, for the County of Santa Clara, on the fourth Monday of December, 1850, at the court house in San Jose, then and there to answer said petition, or, in default thereof, the allegation therein contained will be heard in your absence and decreed accordingly.

Given under my hand and private seal, there being no seal of of. L. S. nice yet provided at this office, this 24th of May, A. D. 1850.
